

Logo Picture; Neale Francis as Sergeant Pratt and Hazel Bailey as his long-suffering assistant WPC Potter, plus some rehearsal pictures.
Click the logo to watch rehearsal video.

Barns Green Players are busy rehearsing its next production, Sleighed to Death by Peter Gordon. It will be performed in Barns Green Village Hall on Friday 8th and 15th and Saturday 9th and 16th May

Several years ago, Barns Green Players performed a trilogy of comedy plays by Peter Gordon featuring the incompetent policeman, Inspector Pratt. Now we get a chance to see the prequel to the trilogy, Sleighed to Death featuring Sergeant Pratt.

Set in a country manor house on Christmas Eve, 1935, Pratt and his colleague WPC Potter are initially booked to perform a magic act for a police benevolent fund event. Chaos ensues when the mystery unfolds, involving a cast of quirky characters and typical "whodunnit" spoof elements!!

This is one of Barns Green Players' very popular 'bring your own food' shows (anything from a banquet to sandwiches) so why not get a few friends together and make a great night out of it. Drinks from our licensed bar will be brought to your table by members of the players who will look after you throughout the evening. The round tables complete with white table cloths can seat 8 people, so if you can make up a full table of 8 that would be great. If not, you can just form part of another table.

Website – www.barnsgreenplayers.co.uk

Box office – 01403 730017 Tickets are just £15.00 each

Doors Open 7.00pm with the Performances starting at 8.00pm